the fear of mancial disturbance in Australia and the approaching fortnightly sett thement, when it is feared large differences will be shown in the speculative bull account in American securities. Since the last settlement the losses in the prices of international stocks have been very heavy, and it is the practice in London in such an event to reduce long holdings of stocks.

A market opened down ½ to 1 per cent, lied feebly during midday and then starting downward again. It railled toward the close, but lost a portion of even this last railly. The net result was a drop in prices ranging from ½ to 2 per cent.

The progress of the movement to protect the gold reserve had but slight effect upon values. The foreign exchange syndicate, while not perfected, was able to prevent while not perfected, was able to prevent withdrawals of gold for export to Europe. There was $100,000 withdrawn from the Treasury for shipment to Canada, which cocasioned universal comment, as all of the banks and bankers, foreign and American, with the exception of the Canadam banks.

with the exception of the Canadian banks, appear to have agreed that the present state of our finances demands that the gold holdings of the United States Treasury shall be left sacred for the time being.

The relia bankers, who have been drawing upon our gold supplies for Russia, it is understood, have determined to seek the other gold markets of the world. Although the cost of securing the gold in ather war. Domestic exchange on New York: Boston,
